PUBLICATIONS, INC., 31 EAST SECOND STREET,

Edgar Wallace might have written strict autobiography and still been known as "King of the Thrillers"--as an illegitimate London ragamuffin, he lived fast and reckless, later becoming soldier, gambler, journalist and finally publishing phenomenon: perhaps the most popular and prolific author in all entertainment genres of the 20's and 30's. Naturally, he created a dictional detective; surprisingly, that detective timid of men-in short, the most un-Wallace-like character ever. Yet this quiet, retiring thinker is the hero of stories that, "for entertainment in its broadest sense, riring thinker is the hero of stories that, "for entertainment in its broadest sense, tales were first gathered in this book:

The Murder Book of J. G. Reeder, Edgar Wallace. Eight Stories.

Unabridged republication of the work first published by A. L.

Burt Co., New York, n.d. 128pp. 5 3/8 x 8\lambda, 24374-5 pa. 83.50

A timorous soul? Outwardly. But let Mr. Reeder speak for himself:"I have that perversion," he said, 'It is a terrible misfortune, but it is true. I see evil in everything... in dying rose bushes, in horseshoes--in poetry even. I have the mind of a criminal. It is deplorable!"

"King Court, absorbed in crimes in common interests: food, clothing, spare time--he takes in a criminal. It is deplorable!"

Mr. Reeder is indifferent to common interests: food, clothing, spare time—he takes no holidays, and when unoccupied sits in on magistrate's court, absorbed in crimes others find trivial. These eight cases (by no means trivial—they form a Haycraft detective library "cornerstone") find him more fearful of treading on Scotland Yard's jealous toes than on those of the criminal—and more flustered by the attentions of a pretty woman than by threats of revenge from incarcerated enemies. But neither Miss Margaret Belman, whose pretty path crosses Reeder's in several stories, nor the thieves, embezzlers, forgers and murderers in The Poetical Policeman, The Green Mamba, Sheer Melodrama, The Investors, etc., really know what secrets Reeder's placid facade (frock coat, bowler hat, tightly furled umbrella) conceal.

Leslie Charteris, author of the Saint tales, once remarked on Edgar Wallace's "extraordinary versatility, which I don't think any other writer ever equalled." Old fans of Wallace and new seekers of mystery chills will find the "King of the Thrillers" at his best in this, Mr. Reeder's rare and unusual premiere.

ORDER FORM

Dover Publications, Inc., 31 East 2nd St., Mineola, N.Y. 11501

e:
e:
)e:
ne:
ne:
me:
me:
me:
send

QTY.	CODE NO. AUTHOR	TITLE	PRICE
			T
			T
	i i i		T
	2000年
			T
F	FREE DOVER CATALOGS Check
COA 2,800 to $1 origi	COMPLETE DOVER CATALOG (59069-0) Describes over 2,800 paperbacks in all fields of interest, most just $1.50 to $5.00, many costing hundreds of dollars in their rare original editions. FREE!	WAL 1840 7MENS PL ACQUISITIONS LIBRARIAN YOUNG MENS LIB CARBONDALE PA 18407
loo pov	DOVER FICTION CATALOG (59047-X) Over 100 titles in lone	mystery, detective and supernatural fiction. Also Trol-	Number of items ordered lang	anguage learning. Most $2.00 to $5.00. FREE!	Total amount Sales Tax (New York residents only)
GUARA	GUARANTEE: All Dover books are unconditionally guaranteed and	Postage and handling (75¢ for one book, $1.25 for two or more books)
may be roof receip	may be returned (with the original order if possible) within 10 days of receipt for full cash refund. No questions asked.	TOTAL ENCLOSED	\prod Payment in full must accompany all orders (except those from	e from
DOVE 11 East	DOVER PUBLICATIONS, INC. 11 East 2nd St., Mineola, N.Y. 11501	if order is $7 ationery).	7.50 or Billed
Send to:		In help us serve you better: Important: Please note any address correction on the label which	which charged postage by weight.

To help us serve you better:
ase note any address correction or sorder form.